The retiring Governor of Pennsylvania gave much good advice in his farewell address. It is much easier for some Governors to give good advice when going out of office than to practice it when in.

Cheap cotton is getting away with the paper collar industry. In 1868 there were forty factories which turned out 400,000,000 collars a year, while now there are only two in operation, which turn out 20,000,000.

A young man who was found with his skull fractured and unconscious on the railroad track at Buffalo, N. Y., a few days ago, began to whistle upon being carried to the hospital and whistled constantly for ninety-five hours, until he died. He whistled all sorts of tunes and seemed to have an unlimited supply.

Most of the European monarchs are particular about shaking hands with common folks, but King Humbert, of Italy, is a regular democratic hand-shaker, and when he goes out on an excursion or frolic shakes hands with everybody. If they got out of a job and it depended on an election we'll wager that Humbert would scoop the whole lot.

The New York Herald, which is an expansion boomer, rises to remark that "our government has as its basic principle the will of the people." As far as this is a government of the people this is true, but it is a government also of law, and the people are or should be governed as much by the law, and by right and justice, as the government is. The endorsement of the multitude cannot make wrong right.

Mrs. Anna Smith, of Worcester, Eng., is the youngest woman of her age in that country. She has a weakness for fairs, and has attended all that were held in her part of the country for the past 100 years. She had sixteen children, and one of her daughters, aged 80 years, also had sixteen. The old lady does all her own work, eats four meals a days, enjoys an occasional toddy, solaces herself with a clay pipe, and is reasonably happy.

The obstacle to the occupation and civilization of considerable portion of Africa is a little fly, whose bite is deadly to horses, cattle, dogs and other animals, although not to man. But man hasn't much business where horses, cattle or dogs can't stay, and therefore that fly-infected region must remain a wilderness until they can shoo these flies away, or discover some neutralizer of the poison.

A German inventor has invented a stone which is a combination of purified paper pulp, mixed with other hardening ingredients. It is as hard as stone but much lighter, and it is to be used for roofs and floors, the special claim made for it being that it is a non conductor of heat, cold, or noise.

The First Week of the New Year Pleasantly Remembered and Enjoyed.

SEVERAL ENTERTAINMENTS.

Two Germans, a Fashionable Marriage and Other Functions to Occur—Carnival of the Seasons—Maj. Gen. O'Connor's Record.

Wilmington society is gradually relaxing into a normal state after the exuberance of life which attended the holiday season. During the past week, the first of the new year, a number of pleasant informal social events have afforded delightful pastime, and altogether the week will be pleasantly remembered by home people and those visitors who have remained after Christmas.

Monday evening Miss Eliza Metts entertained a company of friends at the home of her father, Capt. J. I. Metts. The occasion was a New Year reception, complimentary to her guest, Miss Martha Cowan, of Durham. Those who shared Miss Metts' delightful hospitality were a large company of young people of Wilmington society and visitors as follows: Miss Rosa Bailey, of Winston; Miss Florence Pannell, of Reidsville, and Mr. Robert Rowls, of Tarboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Livingston, on Thursday afternoon, tendered a delightful boat party on board their steam launch, the Almont, complimentary to Miss Eva May Miller, of Winston, until the guest of Miss Gertrude M. Bagby. Miss Miller returned to her home yesterday, much to the regret of a host of admiring friends.

A number of the fair visitors from a distance who graced the numerous social functions of the holiday season have returned to their homes. Of the attractions for the present week there are probably none which give promise of more real enjoyment than that in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium to-morrow night, under the auspices of the Wilmington Lyceum and Y. M. C. A. Star Course. It is the Mozart Symphony Club, every member of which is a thorough musical artist.

Miss Cammie Lord and those assisting her in the preparation for the coming carnival, entitled the "Carnival of the Seasons," are delighted with the progress being made in the rehearsals now being regularly held in the City Hall. As is known, the event is to benefit "The Shelter of the Silver Cross," and will be given at the Opera House on the evening of Friday, the 13th inst., with a matinee performance on Saturday. The participants are Miss Lord's dancing pupils, and the brilliant success which marked the presentation of "The Fairy Carnival" by Miss Lord's pupils last year is a sufficient guarantee that the "Carnival of the Seasons" will be a truly magnificent performance. Major General Luke O'Connor, the valiant retired officer of the British army who is spending some time here, the guest of his brother, Major Dan O'Connor, went up to Southern Pines during the past week for a brief sojourn at Piney Woods Inn. He was accompanied by Mrs. D. O'Connor and her accomplished daughter, Miss Maie. The attention of the STAR has been directed by a friend, in no way connected with Maj. Gen. O'Connor, to "Hart's British Army List," in which his "distinguished service" record occupies seventeen lines of fine print, while the great majority are disposed of in from three to four lines. The following is an extract from "Hart's Army List:"

"Maj. Gen. Luke O'Connor, V. C.—Lieutenant, May, 1854; captain, August, 1858; major, July, 1872; lieutenant colonel, April, 1874; colonel, August, 1879; major general, March, 1887 (Record). Served in the eastern campaign (Crimean war) of 1854-5 with the Twenty-third Royal Welsh Fusileers, including the battle of Alma, where, after being severely wounded, he carried the Queen's colors and planted it on the Russian redoubt under a heavy fire, and carried it until the action was over (the officers who had previously carried it having been killed). For this he received the thanks of the commanding officers on the field (Sir Geo. Brown and Gen. Coddrington). He was also present at the seige and fall of Sebastapol, attack on the Quarries and assault on the Redan of 18th of June, and on the 8th of September was again dangerously wounded. He received medal with two clasps, Victoria cross, Sardinian and Turkish medals, and Turkish Order of the Medgrdie. Gen. O'Connor was shot in the breast, at the same time that the officer carrying the colors was killed, and was urged to retire from action, but refused to do so. He served later in India, including the relief of Lucknow by Lord Clyde (Sir Colin Campbell), and defeat of the Gwalior contingent at Cawnpore. He was also in the Ashantee campaign."

The boys will no doubt be well patronized. Particulars as to the proposed game will be published later.

THE NEGRO REGIMENT.

An Atlanta Paper Refers to Russell's Pets As a Vicious and Worthless Set of Ruffians.

As Jim Young's Negro Regiment will soon be out of service and back in North Carolina—some of them in Wilmington—the following from the Atlanta Journal will be read with interest:

"We congratulate the War Department on its determination to muster out at once a regiment of negro volunteers from Virginia, and another from North Carolina.

"Both these regiments are stationed in Macon, and we do not hesitate to say that a more utterly vicious and worthless set of ruffians never served under the flag of the United States.

"A number of the soldiers in these regiments have met richly deserved deaths by reason of their assaults upon the person or property of citizens of this State. They have been a nuisance, a pest and a menace ever since they were located in Macon. When they passed the bounds of toleration the good men of that community attended to them properly, but they have annoyed and disgusted the decency of Macon to an unprecedented degree.

"The Journal has asked for weeks past why such regiments were not at once mustered out. They should never have been mustered in. They must have been gathered from the scums of the lowest order of population in the States to which they are credited, and it is hard to understand how the administration has kept them saddled on the government so long. However, we will go far toward forgiving the offence because the atonement of an immediate mustering out is offered."

"Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, That the people of North Carolina do most earnestly condemn the Republican officials, for sending a negro major, with his two negro clerks, to pay off the gallant, brave and patriotic soldiers stationed at St. Simon's island; that the same was unprecedented, unwarranted and humiliating to the soldiers and the people of North Carolina."

NEW SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Further Particulars Regarding Prof. Jno. J. Blair's Acceptance—His Enviable Career As An Educator.

Yesterday morning the STAR announced that Prof. Jno. J. Blair had resigned the superintendency of the City Schools of Winston to succeed Prof. M. C. S. Noble as superintendent of the Wilmington Public Schools, Prof. Noble having some months ago resigned that position to accept the chair of Pedagogy of the University of North Carolina.

The Winston papers refer extensively to Prof. Blair's resignation and give expression to sincere regret that the Winston schools are to lose him as a superintendent. The Journal declares that he is "one of the best superintendents in the State, and Wilmington will be largely the gainer in his transfer."

The following is Prof. Blair's resignation, to-wit:

To the Board of School Commissioners, Winston, N. C.:

GENTLEMEN—On the first of the month, I received a communication from the proper authorities in Wilmington, N. C., tendering me the position of Superintendent of Schools for that city. In view of the fact that these schools are the largest and best equipped in the State, that the position is regarded as the most responsible and important one, and that the salary paid the superintendent there is greater than that given by any other of our cities, I very reluctantly and with many regrets most respectfully ask you to release me from my engagement here so that I may proceed at once to this field.

For twelve years I have served in your schools to the best of my ability and I desire to express to the gentlemen of this and former Boards my hearty and sincere thanks for the many favors and kindnesses, official and personal, which you have done me. Our relations have always been of the most pleasant and cordial character and not an incident of an unpleasant kind has arisen between us during this long term of service. I desire to thank you, too, as an educator, for the deep, earnest and unselfish interest and devotion which you have shown to the cause of education and in behalf of the important work which your schools are doing here. Through you I desire also to express my grateful feelings to the good people of this city who have always shown such a liberal, progressive spirit toward the schools, and who have been so kind to me.

To the teachers and scholars I am particularly attached, and desire to say, that to them I am indebted for whatever of success the schools have accomplished. My work here has been of the most pleasant and agreeable character and it is hard for me to leave it, but, under all the circumstances, I shall be glad if you will allow me to enter immediately upon my work in another part of the State, which was tendered me unexpectedly and for which I made no application.

Very sincerely yours,
JNO. J. BLAIR.

The Winston Board of School Commissioners have accepted Prof. Blair's resignation and addressed to him the following letter, to wit:

WINSTON, N. C., Jan. 5th, 1899.

Prof. John J. Blair, Winston, N. C.

LADIES OF FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Their Splendid Record of Work Accomplished During the Past Year.

The ladies of the First Baptist Church closed last night a week of prayer under the leadership of Mrs. S. C. Jones. The week was a precious and profitable one. Dr. Blackwell presented at the close an encouraging report of the past year's collections by the five societies of the church. Each society has a specific work as will appear as follows:

The United Workers—Mrs. W. P. Oldham, president; Mrs. J. A. Montgomery, secretary—attends to carpets, windows, church furniture, &c., and reports for the past year collected and paid out $518.00.

Woman's Missionary Society—Mrs. S. C. Jones, president; Mrs. C. D. Bell, secretary—collects money for both home and foreign missions. They collected and forwarded $157.72.

The Gospel Mission Band—Mrs. J. A. Montgomery, president, and Mrs. S. H. Burtt, secretary and treasurer—collects for the support of Mrs. (Rev.) D. W. Herring, in Chinkiang, China. Total raised this year $32.00.

King's Daughters — (Whatsoever Circle)—collects for and attends to general charity in and out of the church. Mrs. W. P. Oldham is president and Mrs. W. H. Alderman secretary. They have collected $50.02.

Workers Together With God—Mrs. Dr. C. D. Bell, president, and Miss Lucy Baldwin, secretary. This is a group of Misses who study missions and collect for same. They have only been organized since October. Collections $6.72.

All five of the societies have collected and disbursed during the year the very respectable sum of $785.52. They enter upon the new year united and greatly uplifted after their week of prayer. Already their collections have been considerable during the first week.

Little Child Lost.

A little son of Mr. Frank P. Risley, who lives at 909 South Fifth street, was picked up in the streets late yesterday afternoon, near the residence of Mr. D. D. Cameron, 414 Church street. The little one when found was frightened and crying and unable to give its name and it was very late in the afternoon when the parents were able to find him. He had wandered out of the house and aimlessly about the streets until he could not find his way back home.

BY WILLIAM H. BERNARD.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, JANUARY 8.

THE ONE HOPE.

There are few problems that have commanded more attention in the South for some years than the cotton problem. It is one of the standing problems that is always with us. How to make cotton-growing pay is what every planter would like to know, and something that comparatively few of them have learned yet, but cotton-growing can be made to pay and to pay handsomely. Cotton-growers' conventions, both State and inter-State, have been held, and they have discussed this problem in its various phases, made many reports and offered some very good suggestions and advice to planters.

Reduction of acreage is one of one these, and that would solve the problem in the speediest and the most effective way if carried out systematically and generally, but this is not easy of accomplishment because the cotton belt is too extensive, the conditions in some portions of it being very different form the conditions in others. There are also so many people engaged in the industry that securing concert of action would be practically impossible, and without concert of action and pretty general agreement the reduction of acreage practiced would not have any very material result on the size of the crop. While many of the planters who cultivate rich acres could not be easily persuaded to much reduce their acreage there are others who cultivate poor land who would be equally hard to persuade, for they seem to act on the principle that the poorer the land the more they must plant to get the desired number of bales.

Various other plans have been suggested, such as co-operative factories for converting the lint into goods and getting the full benefit of the profit there is in it, a capital suggestion if carried out, which it will be largely some day when the planters are in easier circumstances than they are now.

Storage warehouses are another suggestion, where when the prices were not satisfactory the planter could store his cotton and secure an advance of money within a certain per centage of the market price of the cotton, which is good enough as far as it goes; but this would not solve the problem. All it would do would be to assist the planter to temporarily hold his crop from the market, taking his chances on an improvement in prices, which might or might not come. In addition to this to benefit generally there must be thousands of such storage houses, requiring a vast amount of money, and they would have to get rid of the stock stored before another crop came in, for if one crop lapped over the other the planters would be worse off than they were before. As local enterprises and helps to the planters the warehouse plan will do well enough, but it cannot be carried out in a general way. Another plan and the best of all, is diversified farming, which is the true and the only permanent solution after all, for this makes it possible for every planter to solve the question for himself, without the co-operation of others and entirely regardless of what others may do. It does more than that for it will eventually enable the cotton-grower to get out of that business entirely, if he so desires. We gather from our reading, and we are glad it is so, that this plan is being received with more favor than ever before, with enough to lead to the belief that at no distant time it will be generally pursued.

It is not a new idea, or a new suggestion, for it has been discussed more or less for ten years or more, the result of which is that in Georgia large areas of land once devoted to cotton culture is now devoted to the culture of peaches, pears, melons, &c., and large areas in this State have been converted into small fruit and truck farms. In Georgia and South Carolina many of the cotton fields have been given to wheat and corn, while in several States the dairy industry is making considerable progress. This is, after many years, it is true, but better late than never.

Nine years ago Mr. B. H. Zellner, of Monroe county, Georgia, wrote an article on diversified farming, an extract from which is now republished by the Monroe Advertiser, from which the Southern Farm Magazine clips it. We reproduce it because it is as pertinent now, if not more so, than it was then, and quite as applicable to North Carolina as it was then or is now to Georgia. It reads:

"Is there no hope of emancipation from this cruel, grinding, crushing bondage? There is one hope. It lies in diversified farming; in producing instead of purchasing supplies. Our farmers have exhibited astonishing nerve and perseverance in the cultivation of cotton. Let them throw the same energy and perseverance into the production of home supplies, and success is insured. Farming without provision crops is like chewing without the cud, like biting without teeth. If one has debts to pay let him 'pitch' his first crop mainly for supplies, especially those varieties which come in early. With but little labor and scarcely any expense, he can have an orchard of good fruits, a good garden of vegetables, Irish potatoes, turnips, wheat, barley, rye and oats. These may all be pushed forward early and, with plenty of these, but little corn pill be required, while the meat bill may be greatly reduced. In June his surplus wheat will command, say from one and a half to two dollars per bushel, and go far towards paying his corn and meat bills. Hence most of the money accruing from his cotton crop can be applied to the liquidation of debts formerly contracted. With plenty of provisions for the second year, his surplus wheat, potatoes, rye, fruit and syrup, with his cotton crop, will largely reduce, if not wholly cancel, his indebtedness. This programme will beget confidence, and enable him if need be, to borrow some of that money his neighbor has in bank at a nominal percent. By resting, manuring and diversifying crops the farm is improved and new capital is supplied from its constantly increasing value. By sowing the cereals, grasses and clover, turning under green crops of weeds, peavines and clover, composting all scrapings from stables, lots, ash banks, yard margins and fence corners, and increasing the stocks and herds—all of which, with a small acreage of cotton, there will be ample time to do—he will win a competency and independence as certainly as his neighbor who, from the beginning has pursued this policy."

The man who can live at home and has enough to support himself and family and provide for his stock without going into debt for it, or sacrificing the fruits of his labor to get it, is independent and can't suffer much if the so-called "money crop" should bring little in the markets. He could let it remain in his store house until the price suited him, and if the price never got high he could still be happy for he would be at no man's beck and subject to no creditor's demand. The man who is so situated, who owes no man anything and has all he needs for comfort leads an ideal existence, as we see it, and need envy no man. And this is within the reach of every Southern farmer who pursues the right methods.

QUALIFIED SUFFRAGE

The Legislature is not losing any time in making the movement for qualified suffrage. Thus it recognizes the voice of the people and the great issue which was the vital one in the past campaign, and on which the people rendered their verdict with such unmistakable emphasis.

One bill to amend the constitution in the matter of suffrage has already been introduced, and the probabilities are that there will be others, and we have little doubt that by selecting the best points from each we will get a suffrage law that will meet the requirements and the approval of the people at the polls when it is submitted to them.

The bill introduced by Mr. Winston, of Bertie, Friday, is, with some additions and alterations, a reproduction of the Louisiana law, which seems to be regarded with considerable favor in Raleigh. It provides for an educational or property qualification, the voter who is not able to read and write being required to have $300 worth of property, and in addition to this it requires the payment of poll tax for the year in which the election is held and the preceding year. It also disqualifies for a considerable number of crimes.

It is to be submitted to the people at a regular election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May, 1900, it being proposed to change the time of holding elections to that date.

The following are the salient features of this bill, as condensed by the Raleigh Post:

Sec. 2. Every person qualified to vote shall have been an actual bona fide resident of the State of North Carolina for two (2) years, of the county one (1) year, and of the precinct or ward or other election district in which he proposes to vote six (6) months next preceding election; provided, that removal from one precinct, etc., to another in the same county shall not operate to deprive any person of the right to vote in the precinct, etc., from which he has removed, until six (6) months after such removal. But no person who has been convicted or confessed his guilt in open court upon indictment of the following crimes: bribery, burglary in any degree, larceny, receiving stolen goods, arson, obtaining money on goods under false pretence, perjury, forgery, embezzlement, rape, assault with intent to commit rape, fornication and bigamy, incest, removing crop before paying rent or before satisfying liens thereon, disposing of mortaged property with intent to defraud the mortgagee, crime against nature, sale of cotton within prohibited hours, dueling, gambling, conducting a lottery, injuries to houses, houses, churches and fences, shooting at or throwing into cars, locomotives or trains, slander of innocent women, seduction under promise of marriage, or an attempt to commit any of these offences, or of felony now prohibited by the laws of North Carolina, or which may hereafter be prohibited, or of any crime whereof the punishment may be imprisonment in the penitentiary, shall be permitted to vote or be deemed an elector, unless the said person shall be first restored to citizenship in a manner prescribed by law. And it shall not be necessary that any punishment has been imposed to bring persons within the prohibition of this section. Those under suspended judgment are prohibited, as well as those under sentence.

"Sec. 5. Every person presenting himself for registration shall be able to read and write intelligently, and he shall demonstrate his ability to do so when he applies for registration, by making under oath, administered to him by the officer having in charge such registration, or by his deputy, both of whom are hereby authorized to administer such oath, written application therefor upon a blank to be furnished by such officer.

"The said application shall contain the necessary information to show that he is entitled to register and vote, and shall be entirely written, dated and signed by him, in the presence of the registration officer or his deputy, without assistance or suggestion from any person or memorandum whatever, except the form of application herein set forth.

"The application for registration above provided for shall be an exact copy of the following form, with the proper names, dates and numbers substituted for the blanks appearing therein, to wit:

"I am a resident of the State of North Carolina and a citizen of the United States. My name is.....; I was born in the State of .....; county of ....., on the.. day of ..... in the year of....; I am now ...years and ...months and...days of age; I have resided in this State since ....., in the county since.....and in the precinct (or ward or other election district) since....., and I am not disfranchised by any of the provisions of the Constitution of this State."

"Sec. 6. Provides that if the applicant be not able to read and write as above provided, then he shall be entitled to register and vote if he shall, at the time he offers to register be the actual and bona fide owner of property assessed to him in the State at a valuation of not less than three hundred ($300) dollars on the tax lists of the current year in which he offers to register, or on the tax lists of the preceding year if the roll of the current year shall not have been completed and filed, and on which, if the property so assessed be personal only, all taxes thereon shall have been paid.

* * * * *

"Sec. 7. No male person who was on January 1, 1867, or at any date prior thereto, entitled to vote under the Constitution or statutes of any State in the United States wherein he then resided, or who prior to that time was a regularly enlisted soldier in the army of the United States; and no person, son or grandson of any such person not less than 21 years of age at the date of the adoption of this Constitution; and no male person who was naturalized prior to the first of January, 1900, shall be denied the right to register and vote in this State by reason of his failure to possess the educational or property qualification prescribed by the Constitution; provided he shall have resided in this State for five (5) years next preceding the date at which he shall apply for registration, and shall have registered in accordance with the terms of this Article prior to September 1, 1900; and no person shall be entitled to register under this section after said date.

"This section also provides for the method which such persons shall pursue to secure the benefits of the above, and provides also the oath he shall take; also for a separate registration of this class of voters, and all whose names appear thereon shall be permitted to vote at all elections in the State, etc.

"Sec. 8. Provides for the payment of poll tax of all persons under the age of 60 years; and provides that no such person shall be permitted to vote unless such payment is made on or before the 31st day of December of each year for the two (2) years preceding the year in which he offers to vote. All between the ages of 21 and 60 not herein exempted come within this provision.

"It is also required by this section that the poll tax receipt for said time shall be exhibited to the election officer in official form, or duplicate in event of loss, or proof of payment of such poll tax shall be produced by the affidavit of the party to whom it was paid.

"Heavy penalty is imposed for changing or altering in any way one of these receipts; and any tax collector, sheriff or other person who shall ante-date such shall be guilty of forgery.

"Idiots, deaf and dumb or blind persons are exempted; also persons under 23 years of age who have paid all poll taxes assessed against them."

The other features of the bill provide for the methods of securing registration where registration has been refused, defining who shall be elegible to office, the machinery for carrying the law into effect, &c.

Some doubt is entertained, although there is a difference of opinion among lawyers on that question, as to the constitutionality of some portions of this bill, and whether it will pass the gauntlet of the U. S. Supreme Court if carried there. We are under the impression that it has been passed upon by some of the lower courts and sustained, but we are not sure of that. If there were no doubt about this this bill would come as near covering the case and meeting with the requirements as any election law we know of, but the election law of Mississippi has stood the test of the courts, and perhaps it would be well to thoroughly consider the doubtful features of this proposed law before it is finally acted upon, and not take any chances on having it ruled out.

Discovered By a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that, too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night, and with two bottles has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hammick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottle free at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. †

GIVE US MEN!

Give us men!
Men from every rank
Fresh and free and frank;
Men of thought and reading,
Men of light and leading,
Men of loyal breeding,
Men of faith and not of faction,
Men of lofty aim in action;
Give us men—I say again,
Give us men!

Give us men!
Strong and stalwart ones;
Men whom highest hope inspires,
Men whom purest honor fires,
Men who trample self beneath them,
Men who make their country wreath them
As their noble sons,
Worth? of their sires!
Men who never shame their mothers,
Men who never fail their brothers,
True, however false are others;
Give us men—I say again,
Give us men!

Give us men!
Men who, when the tempest gathers,
Grasp the standard of their fathers,
In the thickest of the fight;
Men who strike for home and altar
(Let the coward cringe and falter),
God defend the right!
True as truth, though lorn and lonely,
Tender—as the brave are only;
Men who tread where saints have trod,
Men for country and for God;
Give us men! I say again, again,
Give us such men!

VELVET AND SATIN REDINGOTE COSTUME FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

THE redingote, the original model of which was made in black velvet, represents a design of extreme elegance. The back is plainly fitted, and all the fulness, which spreads into a graceful demi train, is formed into a succession of inward-turning pleats under the centre back seam. The front of the garment fits perfectly until it reaches a point within one inch of the centre front seam. Here it is free from the lining, and is allowed to slightly pouch. The revers, which form two large scallops, are faced with white satin (as is also the collar) and open over a smooth vest of chiffon horizontally rippled over satin. The sleeves are of a scant coat variety, exquisitely fitted. A band of chinchilla outlines the entire garment, the border being further embellished by narrow appliqued point lace. The skirt of the redingote is lined with white satin to a depth of twelve inches. This design is one which will lend itself effectively to Kersey, broad-cloth, or silken fabrics having a fine lustre. The proper cut of the gown is obtained only with the use of HARPER'S BAZAR cut paper patterns.

To make the redingote for a person of medium size, one will require 12 yards of velvet, 22 inches wide, and 5 yards of white satin of the same width. The fur and lace may be estimated and purchased more economically if the edge of the garment be measured carefully after fitting. The pattern of the skirt does not accompany the redingote, but the prevailing circular design, smoothly fitted over the hips, is here employed.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— A beef packer recently informed General Miles that he had tried to secure a patent on a meat preserving process, but that the Patent Office had refused it on the ground that his method was an infringement on a process for embalming bodies. How to Prevent Pneumonia.

You are perhaps aware that pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of la grippe. During the epidemic of la grippe a few years ago when so many cases resulted in pneumonia, it was observed that the attack was never followed by that disease when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was used. It counteracts any tendency of a cold or la grippe to result in that dangerous disease. It is the best remedy in the world for bad colds and la grippe. Every bottle warranted. For sale by R. R. BELLAMY. †

La Grippe Successfully Treated.

"I have just recovered from the second attack of la grippe this year," says Mr. James A. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexia, Tex. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days against ten days for the former attack. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being 'struck' with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting 'down.'" For sale by R. R. BELLAMY. †

Yellow Jaundice Cured.

Suffering humanity should be supplied with every means possible for its relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "This is to certify that I was a terrible sufferer from Yellow Jaundice for over six months, and was treated by some of the best physicians in our city and all to no avail. Dr. Bell, our druggist, recommended Electric Bitters; and after taking two bottles, I was entirely cured. I now take pleasure in recommending them to any person suffering from the terrible malady. I am gratefully yours, M. A. Hogarty, Lexington, Ky."

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, January 7.—The cotton market opened steady, with prices one to four points higher, this being an indifferent response to firm Liverpool cables, bullish weather reports from pretty much the entire cotton belt, and a small movement at the ports and interior towns. Profit-taking by less confident longs, selling pressure from the stronger bears and liquidation of weak Southern holdings were largely responsible for the failure of the early market to advance as had been expected. Subsequent developments, however, were decidedly better, prices moving up several points on foreign support and the appearance of investment orders, the latter being chiefly from Wall street houses. For a Saturday half-holiday speculation was active and quite general. Rumors that spot cotton was being held at materially higher prices in the South, with demand urgent, caused considerable nervousness in the bear ranks, with the result that not a few shorts sought cover. The late market was bullishly influenced by small estimates, for Monday's interests, and reports that great damage has been done by the recent heavy rains in many portions of the belt. At the close the market was steady, two to five points net higher. Spot steady, with prices one and six points higher to the basis of 5 5 16c for middling uplands and 6 3-16c for middling gulf. No sales. Outward shipments were said to include 450 bales Peruvian cotton.

EXECRABLE LAW.

"Dish yer thing yer calls de law ain' got no sense in it," screamed Tempe.

Nevertheless she loosened her grip on the prisoner's collar, and he, squirming from underneath her heavy hand, fled for the woods with the speed of an antelope.

"The court is forthwith adjourned, sine die," announced Colonel Ben, rising from his seat on the back porch steps.

The colonel had been called forth by a perfect storm of vilification that raged in the kitchen, which was built, in old Virginia style, at considerable distance from the mansion.

Checking his impulse to swear at the cook and add fuel to the flames, a smile stole over his weather beaten features.

The other members of the family had been drawn to the spot—Jerry, Thomas and pretty Drusilla, who "carried the keys and spoke when she please."

They found the earthquake and windstorm in full blast. Tempe, the cook, was framed in the doorway, brandishing a frying pan in one hand, with the other inserted in the collar of a long limbed, shambling youth, who was scuffling desperately to get loose.

On they came, a string of both sexes—hands from the field who had come in to dinner and were too much interested to think of food, all talking at once.

The excited group straggled up to the foot of the steps, and there Colonel Ben waved his hand.

"Silence all!

"Now, Tempe, you may have first go and state your grievance, and then the prisoner, whom I recognize as Eugene, can defend himself."

"Yes, sir. I ain' guine tell no lie 'bout it. I guine give you de facts what dis hyer vilyun Ujeem's done done and Billy dar—Billy my witness."

Billy came to the front, and shifting his weight upon the right leg, very proud of being placed in a position to be so much noticed, blinked like a frog in the sunshine.

"Dish yer Ujeems he done stolt my hussbun's pistol, which he done buy way out yonder in Happystraw, crost de seas in New York, an pay his cash money for, an moufharps ain' good nuff for Ujeems, an he got to set hisself up wid a corjeen, which he solt dat pistol my hussbun done yearn de cash money for so he kin buy dat corjeen, which Billy dar is my witness, an de Lord in hebben know he cyarn play de moufharp good as my little Sally Ann."

"Kin now!" from Eugene, who could endure much, but not such insult as the last.

"Don't interrupt, Eugene," said the colonel. "We will listen to you presently."

"I ain' guine tell no lie 'bout it," cried Tempe, beginning again. "My hussbun's pistol is stolt an solt for a corjeen, which dat Ujeems cyarn' grind nare chune out er, an Billy is my witness, so he'p me Gord! Ain't dat so, Billy?"

Billy blinked affirmatively and stood but the firmer on his right leg.

"An dish yer Ujeems"—Tempe gave the prisoner a shake which made his teeth chatter—"he stolt my hussbun's pistol an solt it, an he took an shoot de African crow offen de top o' my Sunday bonnet. Me, guine long de road to meetin house an thinkin 'bout nuttin 'tall, and African crow which my hussbun gint $2 out de sto' in Happystraw crorst de seas, whar he wuk in de brickyard to yearn de cash money for to buy pistols, an he so kind an good lennin dat vilyun de pistol, de reason he so gen'ous an kind he ain't got no house an land like 'ter folks is dis day."

Tempe was wound up like a clock and kept right on with her injuries:

"An dish yer Ujeem's face black as de fryin pan call hisself high larnt an turn up his rusty nose at my hussbun an say he dun went thoo nine Guffey readers an a whole endurin barrel of books he dun buy at oction an dun read 'em all spang thoo, an half 'em was Bibles. Dat so, Billy?"

Billy blinked his right eye.

"Now, he done stole my hussbun's pistol an shoot folks' African crows off de-all's bonnit which dat crow had red tail an yaller wings sorter sot up so." She placed her arms akimbo. To do this she was obliged to loosen her grip on Eugene. Then was his time to escape, but though present in body the fatuous youth was absent in mind.

"Ain' dat so, Billy?"

"Nor'm. One wing sot up mo' higher dan de yuther wing," said Billy.

There was a murmur among Tempe's backers at Billy's going back on her.

"I gwine set de law on him, prison him, jail him!" screamed the virago. "De law—de law! Persecute him wid de law! I gwine hab his blood ur his money!"

"That will do, Tempe. Now, Eugene, what have you to say to rebut these charges?" said the colonel.

"I ain' nuver know nuttin 'bout no pistol. I ain' lay my eye on no pistol," declared Eugene. "I never know Gable had pistol. I kin prove it by Billy dar."

Billy shifted his weight to the other leg and gazed in a ruminative manner at the trio of buzzards floating high up in the blue.

A loud groan of disparagement rose from the listeners, and Eugene saw he had gone too far and made haste to weaken his statement.

"Fo' Gord an de angels, de old rotten pistol was broke whenst Gable lont it to me, an Billy dar know it, an whenst I 'turned it back to Gable de pistol was in good order, an I kin prove it by Billy dar."

Billy stood now on the left leg and nodded affirmation.

"An dat's a pine blank lie, 'bout I cyarn' play moufharp good as her Sally Ann, an Billy dar he my witness. Sally Ann cyarn' play no mo'n nuttin."

"I'll mash your mout' with dis fryin pan, belittlin my Sally Ann," screamed the enraged Tempe. "I gwine by de law—de law!"

"Stop, Tempe," said the colonel. "Eugene admits that your husband lent him a dangerous weapon, and he being under age, the law of Virginia, in handling the crime of malicious assault upon private property, includes your husband as participeps criminis, and if Eugene goes to jail Gabriel will go with him, Eugene being an infant in the eyes of the law."

"Great Lord in hebben! Dish yer thing yer calls law ain' got no sense in it!" yelled Tempe.

Again she loosened her grip on the prisoner's collar, and he fled to the woods at breakneck speed, while the colonel remarked pensively: "Well, we have had a free show. Tempe there is out of bonnet, Gabriel is out of pistol, and I am out of a fine hoe hand, for he'll never come back any more for fear of 'a spider in his dumpling.'"—E. M. de Jarnette in New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Hairpin Motor.

A fuse burned out in one of the Wethersfield cars, and the car at once came to a standstill. After a moment the motorman opened the front door, and, putting in his head, inquired, "Can any lady lend me a hairpin?" His singular request was at once complied with, and in a short time the car was again under way. "What did you want that hairpin for?" asked the woman who had supplied it of the conductor when that official came to collect her fare. "To make a fuse out of," was the reply, "and I guess you are entitled to ride free this trip." And she did, while the other passengers applauded heartily.—Hartford Post.

The Demand For Mother of Pearl.

Considering the vast values in gem pearls obtained from the eastern fisheries, it is surprising to find that the plain, unromantic mother of pearl secured is of even greater worth. Previous to the discovery of the extensive Australian fishing grounds, in 1865, the supply of mother of pearl was diminishing while the demand was increasing. The large shelled species already mentioned are there found in fine quality. The shells are the size of large soup plates, weigh a pound each and are worth about a dollar a pair. An expert diver, in diving dress, will collect 300 or 400 pairs in a day. About 100 gem pearls are found in every ton of these shells.—Popular Science Monthly.

Rheumatism

Swollen joints, painful knees and ankles; backache near the kidneys; can hardly walk or lift the arms.

DUE TO DISEASED BLOOD.

CURED BY

Botanic Blood Balm (B.B.B.)

THE GREAT BLOOD REMEDY.

The symptoms of Rheumatism are almost unnoticed at first, so insidiously do they steal over the body, gradually the little pains and stiffness increase, until they develop greater inconvenience day by day.

The knees, ankles and other joints of the body ache constantly, swelling to several times their natural size; the patient finds himself unable to get around; is soon incapacitated for business, and later, is confined to his bed, utterly helpless.

It is a great mistake to expect relief from such condition by the application of liniments and other external remedies. The medical profession admits that the disease is in the blood, and it is but reasonable that only a blood remedy, one purely vegetable, can cure permanently. The poison that produces Rheumatism is Uric Acid, and Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) will eliminate the poison from the blood and gradually your Rheumatism is cured before you hardly realize it. We receive, almost daily, testimonials from patients cured by using Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.). Some of the cures are so marvelous that it seems almost incredible that B. B. B. should have such curative powers, but they are so sincere and honest that it affords us great satisfaction and pleasure to read them. You who are hopeless of a cure read the case of W. P. McDaniel, of Atlanta, and then do as he did.

"For six months I have had Rheumatism to such an extent that I was forced to use crutches a portion of the time, and could not raise my left arm to my head. I used all the leading blood remedies of the day, besides the attention of several first-class physicians, all without benefit.

"I became quite feeble and emaciated, having very little appetite and poor digestion.

"I secured two bottles of Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) and before one bottle had been used, I felt a most wonderful change. Six bottles have given me entire relief. Rheumatism relieved, and can use my arm as good as ever; cured the neuralgia in my head, and all malarial poison is relieved, and I feel better than I have for six years. I have never used such a wonderful medicine, as the effects have been magical." W. P. McDaniel,

With J. S. Pemberton & Co., Atlanta, Ga.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM CURED BY B. B. B.

"I suffered untold misery the past number of years from inflammatory rheumatism, and could find nothing to cure or relieve me. I had almost drawn a conclusion that all patent medicines were frauds, until about one year ago I was induced by a friend now living in Tyler to try a preparation known as Botanic Blood Balm, and after a long persuasion on his part I finally made up my mind to make one more effort to rid myself of this terrible affliction, and it now affords me the greatest pleasure of my life to state that I am entirely cured, with no traces of the disease left, and all effected by the marvelous healing properties of Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) which I consider the grandest, purest, and most powerful blood remedy known to man. I have been subject to inflammatory attacks since ten years of age." John M. Davis, Tyler, Texas.

Botanic Blood Balm (B. B. B.) is a scientific vegetable preparation used originally by Dr. Gilliam in his private practice for all Blood Diseases such as Pimples, Boils, Sores, Running Ulcers, Mercurial Rheumatism, Boils, Carbuncles and Scrofula. It has performed so many cures that 17 years ago the preparation was put on the market and is for sale by all druggists at $1 for a large bottle. Send to us for book of cures. It is the cure that counts.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, JANUARY 8.

THE GRAND JURY'S WORK IS FINISHED.

Their Report Submitted and They Discharged—Cases Disposed of By the Criminal Court Yesterday.

The work before the Circuit Criminal Court is being disposed of with considerable dispatch, so that there are now but twelve prisoners in the county jail awaiting trial. Court will continue in session during the greater portion of this week. A recess was taken about 5.30 o'clock until 9 30 tomorrow morning.

The case of house-breaking against Edward Foy, colored, will be the first case called for trial.

Yesterday W. H. Hansley, colored charged with stealing dressed hogs from Mr. R. B Moore a few weeks since, was given a trial, which resulted in his conviction. Judge Battle sentenced him to seven years in the penitentiary.

Other cases disposed of were as follows:

Daniel Keen, colored, perjury; nol prossed.

Thos. Lane, colored, secret assault; nol prossed.

Jno. A. Odham, larceny; not guilty.

James Harper, colored, carrying concealed weapon; submitted.

Eugene James, colored, larceny of a saddle; submitted. Sentenced to four months in jail, to be hired out by commissioners.

Judgment was suspended on the payment of the costs in the case against two young men for driving a horse to death, reference to which has hereto fore been made. They also paid S. P. Cowan and Co. for the horse.

The Grand Jury finished their work yesterday, submitted their report and were discharged for the term. The report is as follows, to wit:

To his Honor Judge Dossey Battle, of January Term of the Criminal Court, of New Hanover County, Presiding:

We, your Grand Jury for this term of court beg leave to report that we have performed the duties assigned to us.

We have had before us 65 bills, of which number we have found 53 true bills and 5 not true bill; we also made 4 presentments.

We have visited the county jail, the county home and court house. As to the county jail we found it to be in a very filthy condition. The county home we found in good condition. The inmates were questioned and said that they had plenty to eat and a good supply of wood and their condition generally is as good as could be expected and they speak in high terms of the present superintendent Mr. Chadwick.

The court house we found to be in excellent condition. We would recommend that seats be placed near the grand jury room door for the use of witnesses who are waiting to be called before that body. We also recommend that the sewerage in the jail be overhauled and repaired at once and the jail be thoroughly cleaned immediately. We also recommend that a telephone be placed in the County Home, so that the county physician can be called in case of the severe sickness of any of the inmates. We also recommend that the windows in the insane departments and the dining room be repaired at once, as the glass is nearly all broken out and it is impossible to keep the insane department warm in its present condition. We now beg to be discharged.

Very respectfully,

GEO. W. BRANCH, Foreman.

Attest.

J. F. STANLAND, Clerk.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, January 7.—When the Senate convened to-day Senator Pasco, Florida, presented a morial from a camp of Confederate veterans of Ocala, Fla., protesting against the proposition of Senator Butler, North Carolina, to pension ex-Confederate soldiers.

In this connection Senator Allen of Nebraska said: "I believe a word on this subject is due at this point. I do not believe there was ever a serious purpose on the part of the Senator who is the author of the proposed amendment to pension Confederate vererans. I think the author of the amendment, like the President of the United States, was carried away by his feelings! In my opinion, altogether too much attention is being paid to it. It would be an injustice to the rank and file of the Confederate soldiers to say that they would consider seriously any proposition to receive pensions. They have cared for themselves for a third of a century. They have cared for their cemeteries and for their dead. It seems to me that the whole matter can be closed by saying that both the President of the United States and the author of the amendment were carried away by their enthusiasm. In my judgment, speaking from the standpoint of a Northern soldier, it is time to close this incident. It may be closed by the happy thought that all bitterness and sensationalism have been wiped out by the late Spanish war."

At the conclusion of the routine business, in accordance with the order made yesterday, the District of Columbia appropriation bill was taken up and passed.

Anti-Imperialism.

Senator Mason, Illinois, offered the following resolution.

"WHEREAS, all just powers of the government are derived from the consent of the governed, therefore, be it,

"Resolved, By the Senate of the United States, That the government of the United States of America will not attempt to govern the people of any other country in the world without the consent of the people themselves, of subject them by force to our dominion against their will."

Senator Mason asked that the resolution lie on the table, announcing his intention of addressing the Senate upon it next Tuesday.

The House bill granting extra pay to officers and enlisted men of United States volunteers was called up by Senator Shoup and passed without amendment. The bill grants two months extra pay to troops that have served outside of this country and one month's extra pay to those who have served only in this country.

Senator Morgan, Alabama, gave notice that at 2 o'clock he would ask the Senate to fix a time for a vote on the Nicaragua canal bill, but after the bill allowing extra pay to volunteers had been passed the Senate at 1.45 P. M. went into executive session, Senator Allison saying that it was the understanding that no business except consideration of the District bill was to be transacted at to-day's session.

At 2.10 P. M. the Senate adjourned.

House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, January 7:—The House of Representatives was engaged all day on the Legislative and Executive Appropriation bill, and completed it substantially as reported, except the item for the Civil Service Commission, which went over until Monday. There were several side debates during the day. One of these brought out Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, in a speech of an hour on current political questions. He said the country was enjoying prosperity owing to the maintenance of the gold standard and passage of the Dingley tariff bill. The Philippines also came in for attention, on the discovery of an item of $12,000 for naval charts of the islands. This item was ruled out on a point of order by Mr. Dockery, the chairman, Mr. Payne, holding that the Philippines were still foreign territory, and as such not the proper subject of the legislation proposed.

Mr. McCleary, Rep., Minnesota, sought to withdraw from the calendar the Banking and Currency bill.

Mr. Cox, Dem., Tennessee, declared this bill had been irregularly reported and that the Democrats of the committee had been excluded from the committee when the measure was under consideration.

Without granting the request for the withdrawal of the bill, the House at 5 o'clock adjourned.

A LIFE SENTENCE.

Prof. J. H. McClure, of Kentucky, Convicted of Murder.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 7.—A special to the Evening Post from Mumfordville, Ky., says:

Prof. J. W. McClure, who was indicted with the Rev. Gregory Doyle for the murder of Miss Lidie Bracher, was to day given a life sentence. The jury was out four hours. Doyle is a Baptist minister and it is alleged had betrayed Miss Bracher, and while in that condition he is said to have induced Prof. McClure, who is one of the most prominent educators in this section, to perform a criminal operation which resulted in the girl's death. Separate trials were demanded and McClure was tried first.

MURDER AT NEW CASTLE.

City Treasurer Levin Killed in His Office Last Night.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 8.—At one o'clock this morning the officials here were notified to look for the murderers of J. B. Levin, city treasurer of New Castle, Pa.

From the meagre reports obtainable it appears that Mr Levin, while in his office about 10 o'clock last night, was attacked by a man or men, supposed to be tramps, who beat the treasurer's head into a jelly and fled, supposedly toward this city.

LUDLOW'S PROCLAMATION.

Calls on Citizens of Havana to Surrender Arms and Ammunition As An Evidence of Good Faith.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

HAVANA, January 7.—General Ludlow, the military commander of the district of Havana, has issued the following proclamation to the citizens:

"It is known that large quantities of arms and ammunition are in store at numerous places in this city, greatly in excess of any possible requirements. These accumulations are the result of the war conditions which have existed for three years, and now that the city is in a condition of profound peace and no member of the community has any requirement for deadly weapons of the character indicated, it is evidence at once of good faith and patriotism to dispense with their retention. Actuated by these feelings many citizens have for several days past been voluntarily turning in these arms and have requested the United States authorities to receive them.

"Castle La Punta has been designated as an armory for the deposit and receipts are given for the weapons turned in."

By the same proclamation physicians are required to report infectious diseases, saloons and restaurants are allowed to be opened until midnight, instead of closing at 11 o'clock. To relieve suffering and stop professional beggary the guards patrolling the streets are to take notice of cases of illness and destitution, with the locality of the streets and the number, and emergency rations will be issued. In cases of illness special food will be supplied by the doctors.

SEABOARD AIR LINE DEAL.

Ryan Endeavoring to Block the Sale of the System—An Injunction Has Been Issued.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 7.—William L. Marbury, counsel for Thomas F. Ryan of New York, who is endeavoring to block the sale of the Seaboard and Roanoke railroad, parent corporation of the Seaboard Air Line system, to the syndicate headed by Mr. John S. Williams, filed a bond in the Circuit Court to-day for $200,000 for an injunction to prevent the transfer of 3,000 shares of stock pooled with Messrs. Louis McLane and Leigh R. Watts, which Mr. Ryan claims the owners agreed to sell to him at $125 a share two years ago. Judge Wickes approved the bond and signed the order for an injunction.

Mr. Williams, who conducted the negotiations on the part of the syndicate, was in conference with the representatives of the Seaboard and Roanoke stockholders to day, but as far as known the stock has not been delivered to the syndicate.

THE DEMAGOGUE BUTLER.

Confederate Veterans Denounce and Repudiate His Pension Bill.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RALEIGH, N. C., January 7.—The local camp of Confederate Veterans to-night adopted the following resolution in regard to Senator Butler's bill to put them on the pension roll:

"We, the members of L. O. B. Branch Camp of Confederate Veterans, of Raleigh, N. C., in meeting assembled, having seen in the papers that Senator Butler has introduced a bill in the United States Senate to pension Confederate Veterans, hereby enter our protest against said bill, as degrading and demoralizing in its tendency, and suggest to the honorable Senator that he use his efforts to purge the pension rolls of the bummers and bounty jumpers of the Federal army, and we will thank him for the same."

SENATOR QUAY'S CASE.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PHILADELPHIA, January 7.—Argument was heard in the State Supreme Court to-day on the petition of U. S. Senator Quay, Richard R. Quay and former State Treasurer Haywood, on the petition for a writ of certiorari to remove to the higher court from Quarter Sessions Court of Philadelphia the case pending against them, charging conspiracy. Over three hours were occupied in the delivery of the argument of these eminent lawyers. The court then took the matter under advisement and adjourned.

TAXES IN CUBA.

War Department Will Continue Spanish System for a Short Time.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The War Department has finally decided to continue in force, for a time at least, the system of collecting taxes in Cuba practiced by the Spanish authorities, but with some important changes made in the plan, all in the direction of liberality toward the taxpayers and in the honesty of administration.

A MANIFESTO FROM AGUINALDO.

Protests Against General Otis Signing Himself Military Governor.

CALLS ON HIS FOLLOWERS.

To Work With Force for Absolute Independence—General Otis Hopes for a Pacific Outcome of the Trouble But Is Doubtful.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

MANILA, January 7.—Within a few hours after the proclamation issued by Major General Otis in behalf of President McKinley, the agents of Aguinaldo billed Manila with a manifesto which attracted considerable attention. The revolutionary president protested against General Otis signing himself military governor of the Philippine islands.

Aguinaldo, in his manifesto, declared he had never agreed at Singapore, Hong Kong or elsewhere, to recognize the sovereignty of the Americans here, and insists that he returned to the Philippines on an American ship solely to conquer the Spaniards and win independence. He asserts that both his proclamations, on May 24th and June 12th, stated this fact officially, and he claims that Major General Merritt confirmed this by a proclamation days before the Spaniards capitulated, stating clearly and definitely that the American forces came to overthrow the Spanish government and liberate the Filipinos.

In conclusion Aguinaldo, declared that he had natives and foreigners as witnesses that the American forces recognized not only the fact that the Filipinos were belligerents, but by publicly saluting the Filipino flag "as it triumphantly sailed these seas before the eyes of all nations."

Aguinaldo solemnly protested, in the name of the Deity who empowered him to direct his brethren in the difficult task of regeneration, against the intrusion of the American government, and reiterated that he can produce proofs that he was brought here on the understanding that the Americans promised him their co-operation to attain independence.

The revolutionary leader then called upon all his followers to work together with force, and assures them he is convinced that they will obtain absolute independence, and urging them never to return "from the glorious road" on which they have "already so far advanced."

Major General Otis attaches no importance to the manifesto. He says he feels confident that the opinion of the better classes of the Filipinos is not expressed in it; but as to whether the Filipino masses can be controlled and the Filipino army kept in check, he does not know, although he hopes for a pacific outcome of the trouble.

Her Tribute to Lucy Stone.

Mrs. Mary E. Holmes, the faithful and efficient president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage association, has been obliged by domestic cares and duties to resign her official position. She will be greatly missed, but will continue to advise and plan for the cause. In a private letter she writes:

"If dear Lucy Stone was on the earth, I should explain to her first of all why I have resigned my state position. She was and is my inspiration and godmother in suffrage work. She was such a good wife and mother that I feel sure she would tell me to do my duty to the home before any other. I hope I can return to the work at some future time, but now heart and brain must be given to the home and home interests. I shall still do what little I can for our beloved cause and shall watch the battle with great interest."
